

Katarzyna Przylepa, MA (age 50)

Medical University of Lublin, Poland

Lecturer at the Foreign Languages Department of Medical University of Lublin, Poland

Postgraduate at the Faculty of Health Sciences of Medical University of Lublin, Poland

- 1996 – graduated from Maria Curie-Skłodowska University, Lublin, Poland – Faculty of English Philology
- 1993-1994 – scholarship at Oglethorpe, University Atlanta, Georgia – major: Business Administration
- 1996-2006 – working in a bank as a specialist and managing director
- 2006- present - Medical University of Lublin, Poland – lecturer, assistant
- Sworn translator of English
- Translating informed consents and various medical documents for foreign patients treated at the Independent Public Teaching Hospital no 4.

Tasks:

- teaching medical English to medical, nursing, radiography and physiotherapy students,
- translating medical and legal documents for the University and the Independent Public Teaching Hospital no 4.
- PhD dissertation in the Faculty of Health Sciences on job satisfaction of Polish and American nurses
- many publications on nursing and public health
- participation in and organizing nationwide conferences on nursing

Hobbies:

tennis, alpine skiing, classical music